

SOLDIERS WELCOME PLANS COMPLETED

Triumphal Arch on Main Street to be completed Tuesday at very latest.

DECORATIONS UP MONDAY

Work must be started tomorrow in order to assure its completion says Lee Daniels.

With Campuses of Tulsa and Muskogee spectators have been invited to see June 11, with a progression rapidly on the arch of triumph which is being constructed in honor of the returning soldiers, the program has been arranged in detail, featuring arrangements have been made and all is ready for exhibiting in the second of the Tulsa, soon to be completed by return home, and the decorations will be put up on Monday evening, June 10, in the city hall square, where the city has been received in the history of the city.

The engineers are expected to arrive in Tulsa Wednesday morning. By Tuesday evening at the latest the arch of triumph will be complete according to Lee Daniels, chairman of the Carson post. The newest in Tulsa committee on reception, who have been working on their plans, have agreed that the first step has been received in the history of the city.

To declare half holiday.

Mars Hubbard has already agreed to declare a half holiday for the reception of Company D and promotion to this effect will be issued when definite information as to the date of arrival is received. All merchants have agreed to close their doors during the parade, and a din will be held to the celebration by the release of all the steam in the city through various whistles.

It is the present plan of Daniels to meet the engineers at the station with a band of not less than 100 pieces. At the station short speeches of welcome will be delivered by prominent citizens and then the parade will form.

The route of march will be the band, next the members of the Lee Carson post and last the company of engineers.

The route of march will be south on Main from the Elkston station under the arch of triumph to Second street, east to Seventh to Boston, north to Boston to Fourth and "D" street to Convention Hall, where the parade will disband. Owners of automobiles who are desirous of taking members of the engineering company for a tour of the city are requested to do so at Convention Hall when the parade disbands.

Home Guards as Police.

Members of the Home Guard, under the direction of Captain C. W. Davis, will police the streets of the city throughout the entire day when the engineers are scheduled to arrive. Under no conditions will an automobile be allowed to park on Main street on the appointed date, for the reason that it would be impossible to get the machines removed by time for the parade.
